

Last night of the theme. Nothing new, a match in two days, and every start gets used.

ON THE GROUND

- 12 cones, six lanes, 15 metres
- A hurl each

Set it up before the first group arrives and leave it for all three.

Six lanes 15 metres long, with a cone at each end

0 to 2 Wake up game: number starts

- They jog. Give the four starts a number and say them once: 1 standing, 2 rolling, 3 sitting, 4 backwards.
- Call a number. Every boy drops into that start where he stands and sprints five metres.
- Eight calls. By the end nobody should need to think about it.

2 to 11 Movement: all four starts, with a hurl

- Two waves at each of the four starts with a hurl in hand, at match pace.
- Walk back after every go, on the outside of the lanes.
- No coaching. Stand at the finish and watch the first three steps.

11 to 17 Finish: free starts, then in

- Four free waves. Each boy picks the start he likes best and runs at his own pace.
- Nobody is timed and nobody is raced.
- Walk them in with two minutes left.
- Ask three boys: "Which start would you use to chase a loose ball?"
- Tell them the theme changes on Tuesday and it is endurance.

Coach one thing: Nothing. Watch, and find out who can start without being told.

- Any boy who still has to think before he moves. Note it, and pick it up inside the next theme.

Lashing rain. The sitting start becomes a crouch start.
