

Match in two days. Same running, faster, fewer goes, nothing new.

ON THE GROUND

- 12 cones, six lanes, 15 metres
- A ball each, 5 bibs

Set it up before the first group arrives and leave it for all three.

Six lanes 15 metres long, with a cone at each end

0 to 2 Wake up game: stuck in the mud

- Five boys in bibs are the taggers, everyone else runs inside the grid.
- A tagged boy stands still with his feet apart and his arms out wide.
- Another boy frees him by tapping his shoulder. Change the taggers once. Two minutes.

2 to 10 Movement: running tall with a ball

- Six waves of six over 15 metres at match pace, ball in hand.
- One arm is carrying, so the other arm has to do the work properly. Say that once.
- No teaching and nobody stopped in the lane.

10 to 17 Finish: two free sprints

- Four waves at whatever pace they like over the full fifteen metres.
- Then walk them in and ask two boys: "What do the arms do?"
- Hand them on. Match on Saturday.

Coach one thing: Nothing. Watch the arms of the boys who were bad on Tuesday.

- The carrying arm pulling the body across itself. It is common and it is fixable later.

Lashing rain. No change.
