

Two more starts go in tonight, and the pace goes up. Four days to the next match.

ON THE GROUND

- 12 cones, six lanes, 15 metres
- 25 discs, four colours
- Hands free

Set it up before the first group arrives and leave it for all three.

Six lanes 15 metres long, a cone at each end, and a disc for every boy

0 to 2 Wake up game: colour dash

- Scatter the discs in four colours through the grid. They jog between them.
- Call a colour. Every boy sprints to stand beside a disc of that colour, then jogs again.
- Eight or nine calls. Call the same colour twice in a row once, to catch them out.

2 to 8 Movement: four starts

- Standing and rolling, one wave each, to settle them in.
- Sitting start. He sits on the line facing down the lane, hands off the ground.
- Backwards start. He stands facing away, turns on the whistle, and goes.
- Three waves of each new one. Slow the first wave right down.

8 to 13 Body shape: the sit

- A disc each. Ten slow sits, then hold the bottom for ten seconds.
- Then the nudge test. Hold the sit while you press gently on one shoulder.
- Tell them out loud: "This is the shape you start in and it is the shape you stop in."

13 to 17 Challenge game: race off the ground

- Pairs, one pair to a lane, both sitting on the start line facing down the lane.
- On the whistle they get up and race ten metres.
- Six races. Change partner each time and swap which side they sit on.

Coach one thing: Getting off the ground without using the hands.

- Boys rolling onto their front to get up. Show them how to plant one foot and drive.
- Knees falling in during the sit.

Lashing rain. The sitting start becomes a crouch start. Everything else stands.
